MILLENNIAL. Within a few days past the Chicago Demo-erat has become a model of benignity. Those very persons whom it has been denouncing for have consigned them to an abode in the pen tentiary, had there been any truth in the the social and christian virtues that adorn the derful to behold. Some have regarded it as ar while others insist that it is only the result of a wholesome scare lately received by the proprietor of Jackson Hall. One gentleman re marked in our hearing, that all that Long John

The Republicans have been and still are anxious for a speedy organization—they have refrained from oc-cupying the time of the House with longspeeches—they have endured, if nt in order to expedite an organizatio lots have been taken during the week-a worl facts in mind; and let it not be forgotten that

When Milton's Paradise Lost was submitte to the censor, he thought he saw treason luri ing in the following magnificent figure; and i was only after receiving a full and satisfactor that he concluded not to suppress it:

That such a censorship was ever tolerate England and Germany, seems passing strange wonder, for a parallel is not wanting on this side of the Atlantic. Look at Postmaster General Holt's letter on the next page, which makes every petty postmaster in the slave-holding States a censor of the press, with unlimited powers, and tell us wherein old-time rship differed from that which Franzror, Kr., December 4, 189.

Dran Srs:—As the Legislature will soon be called upon to select a United States Senator, and as your name has been mentioned in connection with that office, we, as members of the Legislature and of the Democratic party, re garding the constitutional rights of the Southern States as paramount to all other political considerations, desire, if compatible with your feelings, that you would give us your views on the following questions:

Do you uphold and indorse the opinion of the Supreme Court of the United States in the Dred Southcase?

Do you believe that Congress possesses the constitutional power to pass laws for the protection of the citizen in his property in the Territories, including property in African slaves; and if so, would you, as United States Senator, introduce and advocate the enactment of such laws as would give efficient remedies for the protection of all such property therein, should the Territoiral Legislature fail to give the necessary remedies and protection of enact laws unfriendly to alave property; or enact laws unfriendly to alave property; or enact laws unfriendly to alave property; or enact laws unfriendly to alave property;

A Citizen Lost.

Much excitement exists in Detroit relative to a respectable and prominent citizen named Campau who has been missing for some days. The citizens have organized themselves into Ward Committees for examining sewer openings, cisteras, cellars, etc., and for examining all suspicious houses. A Committee has also been appointed to procure a sub-marine diver, and and an engineer to pump out such cisteras and and an engineer to pump out such eistern as the authorities may wish to have emptied schools, yet it affords us no small degree pleasure, as occasionally we are permitted drop into the Teachers' Institute. The exerare are of such a nature as usually to afford much entertainment, aside from much that is suggestire and highly practical. We can scarcely conceive how any teacher could wish to be excu-sed. The model class was presented by Miss Gould, of the Kuzie school: they did them-solves and their teacher much credit. But what most interested us in the examination of this duction of Methodism into the United States is to be appropriately celebrated by the denomination. The Ukristian Adepeats says:

The true centenary of Methodism is in the year 1850. Br. Roberts, of Baltimore, has fully demonstrated the fact from local as well as general documents, and other evidence. The late Local Preachers' Convention, at Baltimore, appointed a committee to consult the general conference respecting measures for its due observance. It is a happy coincidence that the general conference meets as this grand spochal year. It will be not indeed, the contaminal conference, but it will be the contemp.

nitras was to force a vote on Clark's resolution before there should be any more ballots for Speaker. They calculated on carrying it by the aid of the American and Anti-Lecompton votes. The resolution said that "no man who recom-mended or endorsed Helper's book is fit to be Speaker of this House." The intention was to pass, and Clark's be thrown out; Northern Democrats were growing alarmed at the factious and violent course of their Southern associates; the President sent word that he wanted the House organized as the government must have money—all these causes conspired to induce the fire sates to relax.

Kellogg of Ill. arose to a question of privilege. He had moved an adjournment the day before in opposition to the wishes of the Republicans. Mr. Greeley, who was here, was indignant, and axchanged some sharp words at the National Hotel with Mr. K., and then telegraphed as follows to his paper:

Hotel with Mr. K., and then telegraphed as follows to his paper:

"The country must not hold the Republican side of the House responsible for the cowardly performance of to-day. It was the set of a very few fossil Whigs, who are only varnished with Republicanism sufficiently to get into Congresa."

Mr. Kellogg denounced him in severe language, and charged him with aiding theelection of Stephen A. Douglas: that he was seen in 1856 in Douglas' parior in this city, scheming and plotting to elect him to the Senste, and that when expostulated with by Republicans for the course his paper pursued, he answered that Douglas was free soil enough for him. I enclose you a more extended report of his reenclose you a more extended report of his re marks.

McClernand of Ill. replied, denying that Greeley had auded or desired the election of Douglas, and announced his unbelief that G. 4 D. had ever been closeted together. He branched off to other subjects and delivered a poor, shambling speech. It was generally remarked that he is a miserable substitute for Harris. He showed his self-te. showed himself to be the weakest man of the delegation from Illinois. Morris of Ill. followed in a strain of apology and denial. He gave it as his opinion that no such interview had occurred, and asked Kellogg to name his informant. This K. refused to do the House orga nized; that there was a good dea of bad blood in this House; that he condemned such scenes as occurred yesterday; that he did not like to hear Southern members swear that the wrangle "should go on;" that if a stop was not put to this kind of conduct, he expected at the next scene to hear the click of revolvers an to the factious course Southern Democrats were pursuing. He offered a resolution that there be no more delay, but that the House proceed to rote for Speaker.

Garnett of Va. replied, alledging that Sherman in his explanation had not piled enough adjectives upon Helper and his book; he demanded that S. should denounce Helper, Blair, and everybody in the North who sympathized with the doctrines of the book. His speech was ultra and inflammatory, and calculated to create existement and arouse had feelings which was evidently the design.

ret delivered on that side of the House. his choicest adjectives. He charged the North with deliberately fomenting treason, insurrec-tion and carnage in the South. Rape, murder, deluge, war, earthquakes, assassins,— these words were loaded up and poured like discharges of grape into the Rep ly smiling at the ranting and raving of this madman. He exceeded all who had preceded him in volubility and volcanic imitation. A volume of amoke, flame, sparks, and hissing, crackling lava rolled and streamed out of his mouth which was the crater. The Southern clerks in the galleries applauded vociferously. Among other things he shouted at the top of his voice. "You Black Republicans say you want to put the negro out of this House. Put him out! No sir, not while 20 Southern men hold seats on this floor by virtue of negro representatives." Turning to Kellogg, of Ill. "Do you believe the constitution gives the power the extension of Slavery in the territories?"

"Do you believe the constitution gives the pow-er the extension of Slavery in the territories" Kellogg replied. "Speaking for myself I most solemnly do. I believe Slavery to be a great moral, social and political evil, for which you in the Slave States are responsible. I deny the right of the North to interfere with it in your States, but I also deny your right under the constitution to curse the free and beautiful West tion and sat down.

He was followed by Nelson, American, of Tennessee. This was the speech of the day.—
It produced more effect than any yet delivered.
He is a venerable looking man, and this was his first effort in Congress. It marked him as a man of superior ability. From a Southern stand point it was an admirable speech in the main. The hard things he said of the Republimain. The hard things he said of the Republi-cans I pass over; but he read the Southern ul-tras a lecture that will not soon be forgotten.— He charged upon the Democracy all the excite-ment and bad feeling now existing in the land, "If the Republican party, said he, is now the greatest party in this Union, you gentlemen have caused it to swell to its present enormous proportions. Many of you desire the destruc-tion of the Union. You are laboring for it.— You re-opened the Slavery agitation by reading

[Special Correspondence of the Press and Tribune.] He began with a great mouth let no dog bark." With his left hand on his shirt bosom, inside of his vest, his right hand holding a secated cambrie, he broke the portentous silence with an anthoritative wave of his arm and a meering threat at Nelson and his party. For an bour he practised gestures and gesticulation. He quoted Shakapeare, Byron, Patrick Henry, Calhoun and Cleero; and seemed to imagine himself an embodiment of the genius of them all. There was no rain of argument in what he said, no facts, no points, no anything but chivalric expressions of modern Virginia. What he said against the Republicans I don't remember, and Lamar had covered the same ground much better. His taunts and sneers were chiefly lavelled at Nelson and the old line Whigs of the South who had not taken stock in the Globe? It was the young man's maider effort and great were the anaicipations of the chivalry before he opeaed his mouth and waved his cambric and began his sophemories oration Nelson promptly rejoined. The crashing out that Webster gave Hayne, or the extinguisher put on the last Gen. Crary by the "Ohio Wagen Boy," was not more complete and effectual. He wilted the youngster until he cried, hold, enough! The poor fellow was a weakling in the graph of the vigorous old Tennessean. Pryor frequently exasyed to catechise him, but he caught a tartar each time. At last with an air of triamph, he asked him the question, "Suppose a Black Republicans should be elected President, for instease, Seward, would you counsel unballation? dissolution of the Union?" With great deliberation he answered. "If ever W. H. Seward elected by a majority of the electors, fairly and according to the forms prescribed by law, I would not buly counsel acquiescence but I would resist and repel all attempts to dissolve the Union. I should wait until the Republicans should commit some overt act upon the rights of the South, I repeat that the election of a Republican President, and the pa sing of the government into their hands would constitute no sufficient reason for the South to withdraw dreids who hung about the Court House all day, but nothing repaid their watching but the eager devouring of various rumors aftest. Now it was "ten courtary men" who refused to agree with two; and again it was "seven to five"; then "eleven to one"; "six to six", until finally we may safely announce that it is "ten to one" no one outside of the jury room knew anything shout it. government into their hands would constitute no sufficient reason for the South to withdraw from the Confederacy. And let me tell the geotleman from Virginia, that not even his own State would sustain him or the fire-esters in a treasonable assault upon the Confederacy, merely because the Republicans elected a President. The restriction was of the Old Description. ident. The patriotic soun of the Old Dominion would unfurl the stars and stripes and under its folds they would crush out the rebellion, and no one outside of the jury room knew anyming about it.

Men with confidence in their skill in physiognomy had "studied that jury, and knew they never would hang Jumperts," and per contra, others as confidently asserted that they would "bet any amount" on the contrary result. All that was known was that the jury did not agree, and as we go to prass, the fate of the journeyman barber is on the minds and lips and tongues of our entire city. It is altogether one of the most remarkable sriminal trials that ever took place here, has more largely eliqited and more sharply divided public a mpathy than any other, and the result, whatever it may be, will reflect the highest credit upon the public prosecutor, folds they would crush out the rebellion, and preserve the Union.

While I cannot give my concurrence to the sentiments uttered by the gentleman to-day, there is one remark he made not long since, when editing the Douglas organ in this city (Pryor is now fiercely anti-Douglas), and I used it very efficiently in our District last summer, who "Proof the figures and byways, from the streats and large of this city there cames man description. streets and lanes of this city, there comes up an insupportable stench from the corruptions of this Administration, which the people throughand the result, wastever it may be, will renect the highest credit upon the public prosecutor, upon whom has fallen a duty arduous and un-pleasant, but ever well performed, in all points that appertain to the lawyer and the man. out the country cry aloud to have abated."

The Republican side of the House and half

The Republican side of the House and half the people in the galleries repeatedly applauded the speaker as he poured hot shot and expleding bombshells into the camp of the fire-eaters. The victory over the Ultras was complete and signal. Whee he got through demolishing the sprig of chivalry and rebuking the fire-eaters, members gathered around him by scores and heartily congratulated him upon his patriotic speech. The fire-eaters seemed to have no stomach for any further words; they held out a flag of trace, and agreed to let a ballot for Speaker be taken without further factious opposition. When M. He even descended to the level of Yankee Doodle and Sweet Home, and interspersed those popular melodies among the splended works of the great masters. We approve warmly the efforts of our resident musicians to create a taste for the classical music of Germany in our city. But it does not follow that they should give us an over-dose every time. We should like to hear the massive and complicated overture to Tunnhauser repeated until the persons who patronize our concerts learn to like it. At the same time we know that the large majority of these persons do not like it now; they can stand it, but they do not hanker for it. Our suggestion is that in future concerts whave equal amounts of German, and Italian, English, French or American music. We will go so far as to request that there be as much of the German as of all other kinds, for we believe that Mosart, Beethoven, Mendelssohn, Handel, Schubert and their illustrious associates and countrymen are immeasurably the greatest of

No man in this Union has labored more for the Southern Democracy than A. P. Willard, no man has met the issues of the day fairer and squarer; no man has borne down with more resistless eloquence and bitter denunciation upon the mottey hordes of Blank Republicanism than he; and no man is more loved and admired by the Democracy of the Northwest, or more feared and basted by the fanatical Black Republican crew. Gov. Wise must appreciate these facts, and we entertain no doubt that he will unhesitatingly commute Cook's punshment to imprisonment for life. He is a generous and a wholesculed man, and he can afford to be magnanimens in this instance; and we assure him we speak the sentiment of every Western Democrat, when we say they feet—deeply and keaply feel—that, in response to their voice, he ought to space the life of Cook. under date of December 8d, gives the following account of the demonstration of these champions of a "pure gospel."

"In the early part of the evening we were aroused by loud shouting and the like, and going to the street we met a large procession of atodents headed by transparencies. This, we observed, was the particular demonstration of southern sentiment. The crowd proceeded some disease up the street, bearing such hanners as "John Brown the horse-thief, murderer and martyr," "Down with Seward," "Down with Henry Ward Beecher," and such like mottos, expressing the views of the participants. They bore also two efficies, one of Seward and the other of Beecher. The object of the whole movement was to burn these two agutators. The crowd and noise had called out the College Faculty, in force, from their snug firesides, and we saw some of them in full speed after the main body. "Go to your room" was heard on all sides, and eries of "Doctor" frightened the timid, and we saw them running homeward. But the powers that be were set at mucht, and the work proceeded.

"Having returned to the College, a large crowd of speciators from the town were called out, and in front of the College, Messra, Seward and Beecher were consigned to the flames amid groanings and cheers. Speeches were delivered, and we could hear the repeated calls for various leaders in the scene, and the hearty cheers which greated their sentiments. Such was the manifestation of their feeling, and having accomplished their object they dispersed.

The Methodist Church, North.

It is certainly a grave subject of reflection that much of the western and northwestern portion of Virginia, and of that section of the State which John Brown selected as the theatra of his operations, is under the jurisdiction of the Baitimore conference, a part of the Methodist Church, North, whose discipline oppeass lavery and prohibits the purchase and sale of alares. The preachers of this conference occupy almost every town and neighborhood in western Virginia and in the Valley. Their opposition to alarery is well understood, and the influence this must have upon the minds of all classes may be easily imagined. So intolerant is their appirit towards the Methodist Church, South, that we have a well-authenticated instance of a Methodist landholder in the neighborhood of Lewisburg, Va., refusing permission to one of the most excellent ministers of the Methodist Church, South, the hold public services on his land, because he was a minister of the Methodist Church, South, it hold public services on his land, because he was a minister of the Methodist Church, South, it hold public services on his land, because he was a minister of the Methodist Church, South, it hold public services on his land, because he was a minister of the Methodist Church, South, it has the Rev. The President has despatched a special deparation to the provinces which had suffered secretly by the late storm, and has also sent material sid to the unfortunate sufferers.

La Republican government is the best had hes ever a striet of in Hayti, and enumerates mong the good works it has already achieved, he creation of a good police, the re-organization of the tribunals and their freedom from corruption, and the extension of commerce—he writer now demands the establishment by he government of a theatre, where the young copie of Port an Prince may learn how to peak in public, and so prepare themselves for its service of the country in the various functions in which floorey of speech is no necessarith.

million dollars, and privileg of increasing this capital. The bank will be under government control, the officers to be named by the President, and the loans to be made only to agrigulturists, and others interested in the tillage of the soil. The bank is intended expressly for the benefit of this class, and it is hoped will be instrumental in improving the agricultural condition of the country.

The President has decreed that all public works, the expense of which shall exceed two millions of dollars, national money, shall be referred to the people at an election. The government is authorized to undertake, without such formality, enterprises involving a less amount.

The Feuille de Commerce gives a rather doleful picture of Hayti morals. Speaking of a certain school for young girls at Port an Prince,
the editor says:

"We heartily approve of the idea of Madame

By a government decree all the confiscated property of the ex-Emperor Soulouque and his family, and of the ex-Minister Delva, are to be devoted towards reimbursing to the public treasury the immense aums extracted therefrom by Soulouque and Delva.

Lotteries have been established with the permission of the government. The drawing of "The Grand Lottery of Divine Providence," took place on the third of November, at Jack.

time since—which is, in brief, as reported to us on the street, that several idleyoung men committed rape on a woman the same night. The case was heard, yesterday, before Justice Pinck-ard—half the idlers of the town being present. The constables were shying about town, after the ten chaps, most of whom ran off. The female is a wretched young girl—now but seven-ten years old—who has lived a disreputable life, among raftsmen, and others, at Hop Hollow, for months past; the poor creature is terribly diseased, and the ten men who went up there, of a Sunday, and held and violated her, one after another, acted worse thun beasts, and deserve the penifentiary. Two of the accused were held for strial; the balance ought to be apprehended, and severely deaft with. It is the most wretched case of prostitution and violence that we have heard of for a long time—Allon Democrat, 8th. nication with St. Paul and Prairie de Chien, connecting, always ap to time, with the Milwan-kee & Mississippi Railroad.

He will also be prepared with a pioncer machine to level a track, when it is necessary, where the ion is rough. His twenty-passenger boat can be raised or lowered, while in motion or at rest, to enable it to pass through a uniform lepth of snow of 5 feet. It has devices, that are imple and practical, by which it can pass over or through snow banks or driftis; even if it should run into a bank of snow twenty feet in lepth and there stopped, it can immediately be helpth and there stopped, it can immediately and the stopped it can immediately be with the greatest facility. It is an amphibiona depth and there stopped, it can immediately be passed through it or over it, or be backed out with the greatest facility. It is an amphibious machine, is this Ice Boat, as it can be run off the ice at a speed of twenty miles an hour into the water with safety; and it can propel itself across the water to contact with ice on the other side, and get out upon the ice and be put again in operation without any material delay. It is, also, almost danger proof; for, if it should be thrown into the water by accident, on its side, or even bottom up, it would right itself instantly; and about thrify holes would have to

Mr. John Cheveland, 35 Wall street, New York, is now the trustee of the patent, and by the liberal subscription of a few intelligent and responsible gentlemen of that city, Mr. Wiard is enabled to fully develop and test his plans. The machine he is now building is said to be beautiful as well as useful; and it seems likely to attract a number of New Yorkers to visit Prairie du Chien, when Mr. Wiard brings it here.
Should this investion prove to be a practical one, Norman Wiard's name will be ranked along with those of Fulton, Stephenson and Morse.
If his machine should prove valueless, the worst thatean or will be said, will be that he deserved Time Stram Plow.—The present severe cold weather has compelled Mr. Fawkes to postpone any further experiments with his steam plow until the return of good and settled sunshine. Although we cannot say that he has entirely succeeded, he has undoubtedly placed some important points beyond the resols of cavil. As a motive power his "steam wagon" has proved itself very reasonably efficient, and most of the defects which have been discovered have pointed out their own remidy. Mr. Fawkes return to Pennaylvania in good spirits, confident that he will yet overcome all obstacles and achieve the success which he has prophecied and promised. We sincerely hope that he may do so. Urbana Gazette.

Some one having written to Mrs. Swissbelm about Minnesota, she recounts some of the bad features of the State as follows:

First and foremost, moceasin politicians; second, mosquitoes, which bleed the settlers three months in the year; third, the water is so hard that one must break it with ashes before it will wash clothes; fourth, the men have; taken to chewing tobacco, and they nearly all chew or smoke; fifth, apples are scarce; sixth, weeds grow very fost; seventh, sometimes the frost tills the squash vines before the seeds are ripe; and these are all that she can think of, except that there is no coal—that the wood does not grow in stove length, but has all to be chopped.

(From the Hartford Free, Dec. 1.)

The press mill of Hammer & Forbes's powder works, in Scotland, East Hartford, blew my seterday afternoon at about half-past three o'clock, with an explosion that shook every building in this city. Many persons ran out of their houses thinking the buildings were coming down over their heads. John McGraw and Samuel Smith were killed. They were at work in the building, pressing the explosive material into cakes, preparatory to "graining" it. I'v supposed too much pressure was applied, but nothing can be known with certainty. McGraw's body was found about a thirt of a mile from the scene of the catastrophe, with his clothes stripped from it, and one hand gone and one leg broken. He was thirty-five years old, and leaves a wife and seven children. The body of Smith has not been found. He was about twenty-eight years old, and leaves a family of a wife and three children. The houses in the viciotity were greatly shattered. The one occupied by McGraw, some twenty rods from the mill, had all the windows broken, and was badly racked. There was about two-and-a half tons of powder in the mill at the time of the explosion, all of which was fired.

Mr. Carpenter communicates to the Davenport Gazette, the results of his experiments in cultivating Sorghum. He raised this year, from fifteen acrees of ground, thirty-nine barrels of moisases. At fifty cents a gallon, his crop is worth fifty dollars an arce. The greatest yield on any portion of the ground was twenty-eight gallons to the sere, and be worth $112. And yet he says his cane was not fully natured nor worked up in the most economical manner. The Cincinnati Price Currant says the calitivation of Sorghum will considerably diminish monasses will, see to log, incoopens in a market at the North.

The Indianspolis Journal says — Mr. Elias Hess, of Ekhart county, has made several thousand gallons of sorghum molasses the past season. With proper machinery, and a sufficiency of experience, the sorghum products will become staples. It will not do for every farmer to engage in manufactured into the desired will have to go into the hands of a few, with capital and machinery, in the same manner as flour and meal are manufactured from wheat and corn. The production of the raw material and the manufacture of the marketable products will have to be separated, and kept so, to make either profitable.

Tohn Brown did not leave any final statement or address to the public. Mrs. Brown, says the Independent, says that her husband made no allusion to such a document as having been written, or to any purpose of writing such a document. She thinks his final letter to his family justifying his enterprise and motives was all the record he cared to leave. To the end, he criticised his manourers at Harper's Ferry as a blunder, but insisted on the righteousness as a blunder, but insisted on the righteousness.

The Government of Great Britain have under construction an Indian river steamer of Immense proportions. Her water line is 200 feet; over all 375 feet, and breadth 45 feet. She will be one of the largest river steamers in the world. She is to be a side-wheel steamer, and is expected to stain a speed of thirteen miles per hour. She is designed for the transportation of troops, and will have accommodations for eight hundred. She will be guided by two large patont steering blades, and is made to draw only two feet of water with all her stores, fuel, and eight hundred years before Christ, had a ablo with forty banks of bofore Christ, had a ablo with forty banks of bofore Christ, had a slip with forty banks of bofore Christ, had a slip with forty banks of bofore Christ, had a slip with forty banks of bofore the steep to the water-line, if the steep to the steep to the water-line, if was about a bundred feet; it had four radders, each 60 feet long. When put to see, it held uncer that 4,000 rowers, and 4,000 supernumeraties, and on the deck were 3,000 mariners. And besides all these, there was a large body of men under the decks, and a vast quantity of provisions and supplies.

TAKEN AT HIS WORD.—A few years ago, when it was the custom for large girls and larger boys to attend district schools, an incident took place in a neighboring town, which is worth recording.

A Coxysasy.—The mud forsy of seventeen white men at Harper's Ferry has made Virginia call out about 3,000 soldiers. Hoaxes palpaoly manufactured for fan by idle wags, have kept Gov. Wise in a fever constantly up to the proclamation heat. Martial law has been declared, and railroads put into the hands of soldiers, to guard against the chance presence of a single Abolitionist at Brown's execution. A continual alarm, breaking out in panies at trifles, and easily trusting the wildest atories, has pervaded the whole State. Tet im 1854, on March 4th, the Rickhomod Ksyubre said:

"One hundred Southern gentlemen, armed with riding whips, could chase an army of invading Abolitionists into the Atlantic."—Indicated by Journal.

The Conservator properly remark that the Legislature and the Courts will have ssome responsibility in determining how far the Chicago Company can control the Land Grant while it avoids the conditions of the Grant.—Racine Journal.

It was stated some time ago in the public prints that a manuscript copy of the Gospais, which turned out to be the oldest in existence, had been found in a moussary of Mount Athon in Asia Misor. The ments of the convent presented it to the Emperor of the Greek Church; and now it is stated that the Emperor has charged M. Tischeudorff, of Leipais, a great authority in sarred literature, to bring out an edition of it.

The Roman Catholie Bishop of the Dioceas of Louisville has issued a circular enjoining prayers for the Pope. He thinks that surrounded as the Pontiff is with enemies who desire the desirection of his authority over a small Territory, he is entitled to the sympathy of all Christendom. He alludes to the fact of several months ago there having been prayers offered up throughout the world for the return of peace, and their efficacy on that occasion.

A writer in Hischmood, speaking of horse dealing in Syria, and the color of Arab horses, asys: "Gray of various shades, sorrel, chestnut, and brown bay are the ordinary, and it may also be said the only colors of an Arab horse. The commoness of all colors, is a dark uniform gray. In my register of horses brought from Ansael I find one black; but so rare is that color that if I had merely trusted to my recolection I should have said I never asw a black horse in the desert."
